PREFACE

The youth section policy guidelines on the establishment, management and monitoring of football academies, centres or schools of excellence, development centres and satellites, or any establishment under whatever name, for the purposes of teaching children and/youth, football, is a detailed roadmap which clearly defines the processes to be followed by all and sundry within the borders of the Republic of South Africa and all its provinces, districts and local municipalities, to qualify for a SAFA license and to be in good standing with the youth policy framework.

This policy framework is a product of extensive consultations with stakeholders in all 9 provinces, national role-players, clubs and many interested members of the public and private sectors. All inputs by different structures, individuals and groups are built into the framework, thereby making this product a highly integrated youth development policy framework.

Further, this guide incorporates critical ethical requirements for any person or persons and/or groups who wish to qualify for licenses and/or sustenance of their licenses once approval has been granted. The transparent and inclusive nature of the processes undertaken to arrive at this product is certainly going to be of benefit to the many people who've been concerned about the laissez faire that existed before this document was born, and make all to identify with the stringent rules set herein for maximum national benefit.

Beyond 2010, South Africa has arrived at the realization that proper development of the sport begins with appropriate governance systems as will be witnessed with this guide. The manner in which the South African Football Association is so serious about its youth development systems, one will understand why all parties and structures are called to embrace this framework. Failure to comply with these rules and regulations will result in the forfeiture of one's license where it's been granted and non-licensing where licensing is pending.

We have also ensured that applicants for a SAFA Football Academy/Centre of Excellence/ Development Centre license fulfill national requirements anent for example Child Safety Requirements among other things, thereby ensuring full recognition and compliance with the national and international bill of rights on the Rights of Children.

Finally, a clear distinction is made between academies, centres of excellence and development centres, as these are not the same. One cannot begin to talk about an academy where there is no educational activity taking place to satisfy the academic requirements of learners or students. Equally, a centre of excellence is not equivalent to a development centre, nor is it at the same level as an academy. The hierarchy is clear, Academy - Centre of Excellence/School of Excellence – Development Centre.
